

High-Achiever's Emotional Needs Inventory

One emotional need I'm ignoring (rest, safety, belonging, appreciation, honesty, play).

One emotional need I'm over-serving with work or success (validation, control, admiration, avoidance of pain).

One small, non-work source that actually fulfills me (family, hobby, nature, faith, friendship).

One small way I can intentionally feed that need this month (schedule, protect, prioritize).

One belief I can begin to soften (e.g., 'I'm only over-achieving and unsincere, I'm not a person who can be valuable when busy').
